NEW BILL ON REVENUE.

Section Applying to Corporations Subject to Taxation.

THE RAILROADS LIKE IT.

All Property Shall Be Assessed at Its Fair Cost Value.

The new Revenue Bill, which will be ready for introduction next Friday, will make material changes in the law concerning corporations, which will be of special interest to this city. It reads as follows:

"That section 4,020 of the Kentucky statutes shall be so amended as to read as follows:

"All real and personal estate within the State shall be subject to taxation, unless the same be exempt from taxation by the Constitution, and shall be assessed at its fair cost value, estimated at the price it would bring at a fair voluntary sale; stocks, bonds, securities, estates in action and other intangible property of corporations subject to a franchise tax, shall be considered and estimated in fixing the value of the corporate franchises as hereinafter provided."

"That section 4,081 of the Kentucky statutes shall be amended so as to read as follows:

"If the corporation organized under the laws of this State or of some other State government, be a railroad, telegraph, TELEPHONE, express, sleeping, dining, palace or chair car company, or a corporation performing any public service, the lines of which extend beyond the limits of the State, the said board (Valuation and Assessment) will fix the value of the capital stock as hereinbefore provided, and that proportion of the value of the capital stock which the length of the lines operated, owned, leased or controlled in this State bears to the total length of the lines owned, leased or controlled in this State and elsewhere, shall be considered in fixing the value of the corporate franchise of such corporation liable for taxation in this State; and such corporate franchise shall be liable to taxation in each county, incorporated city, town or district through, or into which such lines pass or are operated, in the same proportion that the length of the line in such county, city, town or district bears to the whole length of lines in the State. But if any such corporation organized under the laws of this State have all its lines outside of the State, the said board shall fix the value of its entire capital stock as hereinbefore provided and apportion to this State for taxation therein not exceeding 1 per cent. of its capital stock, and the same shall be the value of its corporate franchise and property, tangible and intangible, subject to taxation in this State, and in the county, city, town or district where its principal place of business in this State may be located."

Heaviest Snow Of The Winter Fell Sunday Night

The ground hog seems to be a pretty wise fellow, after all. Friday he was frightened by his shadow back to winter quarters and snow followed Sunday night. It began falling a little before 8 o'clock and yesterday morning about two inches of the beautiful was spread over the earth, which was more than has fallen in this section during the winter.

WHOLESALE ALTERATION

In the Common School System of the County.

PROVISIONS OF BILL.

Does Away With District Trustees Elected By Districts.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 3.--A bill originated by the Educational Committee No. 1, of the lower house, which will be read with interest all over Kentucky because of the number of persons to be affected by its provisions, and because it has the indorsement of the Kentucky Educational Association of Teachers, which now seems to be at the head of affairs of education in the State, is that proposing to abolish the trustee system for the management of common schools in the counties and substitute for it the county board system. This matter has long been a pet hobby of State Superintendent Fousa, who has, during a long life of school work in the State, studied the needs for advancement, which the State stands much in need of.

Some of the Provisions.

This interesting measure provides that the County Superintendent of Schools, the County Judge and the County Attorney of each county shall compose a commission whose duty it shall be to divide their respective counties into four districts, as nearly equal in area as possible, to be known as educational districts. This work is to be done in September of the present year and in the November election, 1907, there shall be elected by the qualified voters one member of a County Board of Education from each district, the four members to be voted for all over the county.

The legal voters residing in a city maintaining a separate school system and in districts in which a graded common school exists, shall not participate in the election, and one of the qualifications of candidates for the place of County Commissioner is that the candidate shall not be interested in any school book concern or store.

The members first elected under the provisions of the bill are to serve one-half for two years and one-half for four years, to be determined by lot at the time the first board organizes. Every two years thereafter there shall be two commissioners elected.

President Ex-officio.

The County Superintendent shall be ex-officio president of the County Board of Education, and shall participate and vote in all matters. The County Board is required to lay off the county into sub-school districts, in each of which they shall maintain one common school for white children and one for colored children, where the population of the two races justifies it, the school buildings to be located as near the center of the sub-district as practicable. An election may be ordered at any time to provide a graded common school district in a sub-school district, or for two sub-school districts.

The County Board is given full authority in the employment of teachers, though the superintendent may dismiss teachers for cause. The board appoints an Official Visitor for each sub-district to visit the schools in that district. The County Board is given authority to make the levy for school purposes and fix the rate of taxation for the purpose. It is made the duty of the Official Visitor to take the census of school children under direction of the County Superintendent, to receive as compensation five cents for each name reported. The members of the County Board shall receive two dollars per day for attending monthly meetings, and it is provided that in no year shall the board be paid for exceeding twenty days.

STOLEN JEWELRY

Recovered by Confession of a Negro Boy.

Mrs. W. D. Cooper, on Saturday last, discovered that a thief had entered her room and stolen a considerable amount of jewelry, consisting of a watch, rings, etc. She notified Mr. Cooper and inquiry was at once instituted. A negro man was arrested by the police and placed in the lockup until yesterday morning, the accused protesting his innocence.

Yesterday morning before an official investigation could be made, William Wells, a colored boy, employed as a house boy, becoming alarmed, it is said, took the jewelry he had stolen and threw it behind a sofa and confessed that he was the thief. The jewelry, worth in the neighborhood of $250, was recovered and the boy arrested. Owing to his age it was thought yesterday that City Judge Brasher would turn him over to County Judge Breathitt, who would send him to a school of reform.

CAN'T STOP.

Time For Closing Services Not Seriously Considered.

The attendance at the Methodist church last Sunday night, if possible, was the largest since the beginning of the meetings. Thirteen were received into full connection at the morning service and there were several professions during the Sunday School hour. Several people also went forward at the conclusion of Evangelist Davis' sermon Sunday night.

As to when the meetings will close, it may be said that the question has not yet been seriously considered. Mr. Davis received a telegram Saturday from Rev. Granville Lyon, a former pastor of the local church, that if Mr. Davis could see no time for closing to go ahead, that they were having a good meeting at Jeffersonville, Ind., inferentially saying that they would manage to get along without Mr. Davis for a while longer. Mr. Lyon went to Jeffersonville to conduct the singing during a meeting arranged to be held before Mr. Davis came here. The meetings here are now running into the fifth week, and the public may rest assured that they will not be closed until the indications are plain that it will be wise to discontinue them.

"ABSENT TREATMENT."

Helen Post Fined $500 And Given Jail Sentence.

Jacksonville, Fla., Feb. 3.--Helen M. Post, the famous "mental healer," after a trial of twelve days, was found guilty in the United States Court here to-day. She was sentenced to pay $500 fine and serve thirty days in jail. Mrs. Post, who is 75 years old, was head of the "Mental Science Institution" at Sea Breeze, Fla., and was charged with using the mails for fraudulent purposes. Her patients resided in every state in the union. She claimed to cure all ills by the so-called "absent treatment." She was convicted two years ago and sentenced to imprisonment for one year and one day. She appealed and the decision was reversed. Notice of appeal was given and defendant released on $2,000 bail.

Only 27 bodies of the 116 persons lost in the Valencia wreck of the coast of Washington, have been recovered.

The House Saturday continued the discussion of the question of railway rate regulation. Nine speeches were delivered, consuming more than six hours.

WEALTH OF ALASKA

MAY BE GIVEN TERRITORIAL
FORM OF GOVERNMENT.

Some Opposition to Such a Step at Present—Railroad Now Building
Will Soon Change
Character of Land.

"Alay-ek-sa" truly is the "great land." Mayhap the name is not traditional, but it is a tradition that fits the extensive territory once nominated Russian America, and let us not bring forward skepticism, be too keen about authenticity. And not only is Alay-ek-sa of great extent, but ever since its purchase by the United States it has been self-supporting. Rentals paid by the American corporation having care of the Pribylov or Seal islands have yielded a good deal more than the price paid for the land. The American Almanac makes the statement that Alaska, since its purchase in 1867, has brought the government more than $9,000,000 in revenue.

It was the fair trade that first invited settlers to this country, "but wasterful

ness, competition, and the degradation of the natives have greatly reduced the output; yet large numbers of skins of foxes, martens, ermines, beaver and similar furs are still collected; and on several of the Aleutian islands blue foxes are being reared in semi-domesticity for the sake of their pelts, so that a regular industry in that direction is arising. The annual market value of the fur product of Alaska was estimated in 1889 by Petrov, United States census agent, at $2,250,000.

Then the wonderful wealth in fish attracted attention, and now Alaska is noted for her enormous fisheries, and canneries, and also noted for the wastefulness with which the former industry is carried on. The fisheries have brought small benefits to the laborer, and materials come from the outside, wages are paid and spent outside; and the ruthless manner in which the waters have been swept has meant much hardship for the natives, who, deprived of their salmon by the greed of the white man, their wild game driven to the mountains by the encroachment of the white man, have fallen victims to devastating famine, their numbers fast decreasing.

Long ago Russian and fur trader knew of the existence of gold in the sands of rivers of the interior and on the southern beaches, but little encouragement was given the prospector. But along in 1870 the prospector pushed his way in and the town of Juneau was put up, and mines in that and near by neighborhoods successfully worked. In 1877, rich finds were made in the Yukon district, and then followed the widespread contagion of the Alaskan gold fever. The names Yukon and Cape Nome now are words to conjure by, the gold of Alaska puts into the background wealth of fur and fish.

Our government is justly criticized for its indifferent attitude towards this one of its possessions, and for years back the cry has been made that a regular territorial form of government be granted the neglected dependency. Just at present the cry is full loud, congress besieged to set in action territorial machinery. Some of the men that have put capital into the country and whose enterprises are yet in an experimental stage, declare the cry is uttered by the carpet-bagger, coal politicians eager for spoils. They add they are aware the country are long will need different government from that obtaining at present, but think the time not yet ripe for change. On the whole, Alaska has taken pretty good care of itself so far as the protection of law and order is concerned; with the rush to the gold fields and accompanying attempts at claim jumping, difficulties in working of the mining laws, etc., there have been on the whole fewer excesses than might have been expected, a rather remarkable enforcement of law and order.

Railroad development will work its usual wonders in Alaska; two roads now are in process of construction, others projected. About a year and a half ago Wall street woke up to the realization of the riches of Alaska, and eastern capital is now engaged in railroad building there. Coal fields and copper districts are attracting attention. In addition to the gold regions, and there are prospects of oil development. Good wagon roads are taking the place of the dangerous trails of early days, the hardships of pioneering fast vanishing.

"BEN HUR."

The American Drama of the Century to be Staged in Nashville.

When Klaw & Erlanger's colossal and brilliant spectacular production of General Lew Wallace's "Ben-Hur" was staged in Nashville two years ago, it created a veritable furor in that vicinity and hundreds journeyed there to witness it. Now that the announcement is made that "Ben-Hur" is to be again presented in Nashville the week of February 19 to 24, with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday in addition to the six evening performances, it is more than probable that the same interest will be manifested.

Nothing more beautiful, inspiring, spiritual and edifying than "The Healing of the Lepers" in the last act of this stupendous spectacle has ever been offered on the stage of an American theater. At this point this great play is truly and in a very high sense "religious." Here the stage seems to have consecrated itself and all its resources to the service of Christ and humanity, there is nothing that is not reverent, beautiful and altogether fitting in its service. This scene and the widely advertised chariot race in the act preceding it are the great special features of the play, which give it much of its value and extraordinary power.

If the American drama has done absolutely nothing worthy in its long career but this—has it its fame to rest solely upon this one noble product of Messrs. Klaw & Erlanger—it has justified its existence, for in this at least it has shown that the stage may be given over to uses wholly worthy, highly commendable and which cannot fail to exert the greatest possible blessing on mankind—that of bringing home with immense force and dignity the eternal truth and verity of the birth into the world of Jesus, the Saviour of mankind. To every man, no matter what his condition, "Ben-Hur" has its appeal. It appeals to the deep grained, firm-rooted religious feeling in the human heart, and brings back with directness the simple lessons and divine truths that every man born in a Christian land learned at his mother's knee.

The management of the Vendome Theatre, Nashville, will give careful attention to all orders for seats through the mail, providing the order is accompanied by a remittance. The sale of seats starts on February 13, all orders should be filed prior to that date. The scale of prices ranges from 50 cents to $2.00. All railroads entering Nashville are to make low excursion rates for those desiring to attend this performance.

SPORTS AND ATHLETICS

The defeat of Bob Fitzsimmons at the hands of Philadelphia Jack O'Brien

at San Francisco the other day marks the passing of one of the greatest, if not the greatest, of fighters of the squared circle of our time. The hero of the ring for more than 20 years and once undisputed champion of the world, is down and out. With youth as his aid O'Brien was returned and the victor for after 12 rounds of grueling fighting, Fitzsimmons announced that he has fought his last year and that he will soon return to the stage. When Fitzsimmons arrived in this country in 1891 from Australia and sought for matches with the champion, he paid little attention to him. His general appearance did not mark him the wonder he soon proved himself to be. After winning a couple of minor battles he was matched to fight Jack Dempsey, and the fans, who loved Dempsey, received a dreadful shock when Fitzsimmons was recognized as the greatest man of his weight that ever donned a glove. Slowly the public began to take to him. They forgave his beating of the idolized Dempsey, and they began to pull for Fitz to win. And he kept on winning—till the night he met Jeffries. The mighty magnitude of Jeffries was too much, and Fitzsimmons fell after a gallant struggle. His subsequent career was interesting, even though he could not defeat the grizzly of the coast. He took another try at Jeff and was again beaten, but he scalped Sharkey, Rubill and George Gardner just to be doing something. He had O'Brien about dead to the world little over a year and then they met. And the tide ran and the advance of age did their work upon him. O'Brien's real name is Joseph Frank Hagan—began his boxing career as a boy and those who witnessed his early bouts never expected to see his name coupled with that of such a noted pugilist as Fitzsimmons. He is 28 years of age. In the prime of life and is a shrewd, well-educated man. He has been fighting all over this country, in England and in the Klondike, and is consequently a bit of a veteran. O'Brien has all along declared that he would be the recognized champion of the country, if not of the world, some time, and has said that he could and would stand as his strength and weight increased.

The sensation of the horse racing world during the past year has been the rise of a new star in the person of Radtke, the Chicago jockey, or rather apprentice. By his artistic saddle work he has won the admiration of all the riders on the coast this winter, where he is at present performing, is conceded by all horsemen to be a sensation that Radtke is one of the best race riders developed since the famous Tod Sloan, and his style of riding greatly resembles that of Sloan. He crouches low over his mount's neck and by gentle methods gets everything possible out of the horse he rides. Radtke is essentially a hand-riding, seldom applying whip or spurs, and his "coaching" method has met with great success. His rapid improvement and present efficiency have been phenomenal, considering the short length of time he has been riding. Other great riders have worked their way to the top by slow stages. Radtke's success has been by leaps and bounds. He has a peculiar way of nursing a horse along, lying low behind his neck, avoiding all wind interference, and in a flash he is cooler by many degrees than Henry Spencer, "the iceman," ever was in his most refrigerated days. He had seldom been beaten in a head-on race or nose-thin, and the enthusiasm that he arouses knows no bounds. Jack "Gene," to whom Radtke belongs, has a string of horses that give the boy a fine chance to revel in the rays of the limelight. Kene refused $12,500 for the boy's contract, and he was wise when he rejected this handsome offer. Radtke is expected to be an exaggerated case of the sensation created by Eugene Hildebrand a few seasons ago on the coast. The boys seem to have every requisite of a good rider, perfect sense, good hands, cool head, is a fine judge of pace and cool as a cucumber when approaching the judges' stand. Besides all these things, he possesses the pearl of greatest price—honesty. Experts are sure that Radtke will have no trouble in keeping up his winning record after the expiration of his apprenticeship, which still has a short time to run.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical profession. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. ## OLDEST MICHIGAN TAVERN.

Hostelry Built in 1837 Is Still Doing Duty for Travelers in Little Town of New Hudson.

The little town of New Hudson, Mich., boasts of what is perhaps the oldest tavern in the state. Built in 1837, it is still doing duty for travelers.

The original building remains the same, but at various times 14 additions were tacked on to accommodate the increasing trade. It is 60x26 feet, with the old-fashioned porch and sloping roof.

One of the former proprietors of the tavern is Albert Hollenback, of New Hudson, who bought the property in 1869 and ran the hotel until 1882, when he sold out to Charles Shear. The latter got tired after a few years and sold out, but the old place appealed to him, so he bought it back again.

"The tavern was a pretty busy spot in the old days when the stage coaches ran out of Detroit," said Mr. Hollenback, chatting about his experiences.

"How well I realize that fact," added Mrs. Hollenback, "and I wish we had never run the tavern, for its care wore me out. I have seen as many as 80 teams tied along in front of the hotel, so you may imagine I was kept busy."

"Do you know," continued Mr. Hollenback, "that New Hudson would have been quite a place but for the old D. & N. road changing its route. Before moving there I had it, and it was a nuisance to team it into Detroit, hauling grain one way and bringing back merchandise in exchange."

"Before a railroad was put through New Hudson was the principal stopping point on the Grand River gravel road between Detroit and Lansing. Business was brisk in those days and in the natural order of things it looked as though the railroad would go that way. In fact, the survey was made and the route graded, but the New Hudson people were so confident that they refused to subscribe anything for the road."

"Pack Warner and others who were interested in Plymouth made an offer of $75,000, the railroad accepted it and the route was changed. The result was that New Haven did not secure a railroad until 1883, which was a good deal of a delayed celebration."

"In the meantime the town lost a good deal, as the traffic on the Grand River road became lighter when produce and merchandise began to be shipped over the railroad instead of being teamed."

"Lansing Smith was the first to run the tavern, and he probably built it, though we have never been able to settle that definitely. Half a dozen men operated it before I bought the property, and I guess that it has housed nearly all the old pioneers at one time or another."

Hon. A. B. Anderson, of Nashville made one of his frequent visits to the city Sunday.

MATRIMONIAL FELICITY.

BY GERTRUDE E. REBASZE.

"Edith," I said, "you'll have to speak to Mary, for she is not careful enough. There are two flies in the oatmeal this morning."

"Perhaps they are twins," my wife suggested. "I'm not speaking with a view to ascertaining their relation to one another, but merely to suggest that in the interest of maintaining an appetite, you have Mary use a few precautions."

As lord of the house I threw considerable dignity into my little speech, and Edith, being a wife of only a year, appeared a bit nettled. I might have known that, from her marriage, that it should be in the little pile of letters that Mary had placed beside my plate that morning. I did not at first suspect.

"Ralph," said my wife sweetly. "Yes, dear," I answered hastily, a bit repentant for my brusqueness of a minute before.

"There is a letter from a lady in the pile for you!" Her voice was potent with hidden meaning. I wondered. I knew I had not flirted, kissed or of any noticeable degree even looked at any prepossessing female for the last year. But a man who doesn't marry until he is 28 has generally been in love once or twice—or more—before settling down, and this letter might contain secrets that in my wife's possession would arouse a lame divine and future life. Why they might even lead to a divorce, for women imagine themselves wronged if their husbands have even had a flirtation before marriage, that they have not confided to them.

I took up the little pile and sorted them mechanically. The letter referred to was unmistakable in its pale pink envelope, neat little seal and small, delicate handwriting. And yet I did not recall the hand. I slipped the envelope in my pocket.

"Ralph," said my wife quietly—but oh, there was a depth of meaning in the pronunciation of the name.

"Yes—dear."

"Do you know who it is from?"

"No—dear," I replied, truthfully.

"Then why don't you open it?" There was an impressive silence, the longest I've known since the momentous night I proposed and she accepted and then we sat side by side without a word for half an hour. She seems to have regretted the wasted time, for she has not been silent since.

"Ralph Loring, you are hiding something from me—your wife," she finally said dramatically. "My dear, I'm hiding in some miserable love affair when you've only been married to me for a year!"

"I have not," I shouted hotly. "And you know I haven't."

"Oh, yes, you have, and you're doing everything you can to make me miserable. You've refused to give up smoking vile cigars."

"Yes, they are vile," I roared. "And you wonder. I have to give you so much for your dresses and ice cream sodas that where I used to smoke a decent hook occasionally, I'm lucky if I have money enough to get a Pippin nowadays."

"I s'pose you think you've got some young, innocent girl that you can fool and make love to—other women, but I'm not as young as that."

"I'll bet you're not," I retorted, brutally. "And I bet your birth certificate was lost in the civil war."

"Mr. Loring!" she exclaimed, and I chuckled inwardly. I had hit a bulls-eye.

"Are you going to show me that letter?" she continued.

"I'm not," I said, shortly. "Not because there is liable to be anything in it that you could not see, but because I believe I should be allowed a bit of privacy. By George, if we are going to have much of this I'll be like poor Johnson."

"Well, what has Mr. Johnson got to do with this. He's dead!"

"That's just it," I envied him. He jumped off Long Bridge a couple of years ago and saved his wife's life, and was so sorry afterward that he jumped in again and drowned himself. And that is what I shall do if you keep on nagging me." Meanwhile I had thrust a hand in my pocket, and digging open the disputed letter with one finger I felt of the sheet within. Glory—it was embossed!

And now, madam, to make you duly repentant, I'll let you be the first to read that confounded letter." I tossed it across the table with a magnificently injured expression.

"It's open, Ralph," she said, a bit abashed already.

"Is it?" I said sternly. "Did you do that with my letter before I came to the table? Were you so mean as to mistrust me?"

"I didn't, Ralph," she pleaded, I subsided wrathfully.

A minute later I looked up to find her watching me guiltily. "It's only a letter's announcement of the season's opening, all done up on fancy paper. Oh, Ralph, said I suspected you. Can you ever forgive me?"

I hesitated and deliberated. I knew it would be more effective that way. "I presume I must, little girl," I said finally. "But promise you won't ever love. You know you made me feel so bad that I—that I—that I could have gone out and shot myself!"

"Oh, Ralph, you mustn't do that ever. Drown or poison yourself, please, dear, because you know shooting upsets me so!"—Boston Post.

A Misch. Man. "I think I'll join a 'sob' society," whined the woman who imagines that she is a hopeless invalid. "I wish you'd join a 'sob' society," was her brutal husband's coarse response.—Pittsburg Post.

WILL WE HAVE A CITY PARK?

A Great Deal of Speculation Being Indulged in Concerning it.

The optimists seem to be on top and the moss-backs have apparently followed the ground hog's example and gone into a hole for a while and "pulled the hole in after them."

Mr. Gabe Campbell, whose farm is on the Canton pike about three miles from the city, has made known his desire to have a park established on his premises and says if the street railway is built to his farm he will donate to the city fifteen acres for park purposes. He says he has an unfailing supply of fresh water for all purposes. As there are plenty of trees for shade and all the city or owners of the street railway will have to do will be to enclose the land, build necessary houses and make such other improvements as may be desired.

He has not laid his proposition before the council or any supposed controller of the coming railway, but he has made two or three public statements of what he is willing to do.

Without any desire to pry into private affairs, we have not verified a report in circulation that on Saturday morning, after the ratification of the council Friday night of the sale of the railway franchise to Mr. H. M. Dalton, a gentleman had purchased eighteen acres of land on South Virginia street, beyond the home of Mr. G. B. Underwood.

There has been a good deal of speculation regarding this transaction, some believing that the purchase was made with the view of converting the said eighteen acres into a park. This may be true, but we believe it is a mere hypothesis without foundation. But we do know that the gentleman who is supposed to be the purchaser has long recognized the city's great need of a park, though we have no reason to believe that he will satisfy the need at his own expense. We have given the true situation as far as we are able and leave the subject for the present with the guessers, and hope that future developments will verify their predictions or that a park will be established by the time the street cars are running. Many good things will follow the building of the belt line and street railway and a park will certainly be one of them.

All Run Down

THIS is a common expression we hear on every side. Unless there is some organic trouble, the condition can doubtless be remedied. Your doctor is the best adviser. Do not dose yourself with all kinds of advertised remedies—get his opinion. More than likely you need a concentrated fat food to enrich your blood and tone up the system.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil

OLD VIRGINIA CHEROOTS

Package of 3 for 5 Cents

(A cheroot is a cigar made without the head)

The difference between a good 5-cent cigar and the famous Old Virginia Cheroot is mostly right here: You get three good smokes for your 5 cents instead of one.

No difference in quality.

The difference in price is due wholly to money-saving in the making. No useless hand-made "head". No full-length filler—five different kinds of high-grade blended leaf but all small leaves and selected clippings. No small-quantity manufacturing methods—a million produced every day in the best organized and cleanest cigar-factory in the world.

DIVIDEND PAYING Oil and Mining Stocks,

Other high grade 6 per cent. guaranteed interest preferred stocks and bonds for sale. OSAGE OIL & MINING CO. has been bought in during the month as an oil well equal to any on the lease and is now a good producer. Well No. 15, Lease 17, has been drilled and is flowing with oil a single "dry" well (independent of No. 15) on lease 67, owned by the four Companies, drilled with out a single "dry" well.

The four Osage Oil Companies owning the above wells have returned to stock holders, during the year in monthly dividends, the sum of $50,000.00, against an actual investment in property and development of approximately $60,000.00, with a handsome surplus yet remaining in their profit fund for extra dividends, subject to the action of the stockholders at their annual meeting to be held in January.

Withdrawal of all stock of the four companies have been entirely withdrawn from the market. An announcement will probably be made no later than January 15 of the entire withdrawal from the market of the stock of the four Osage Petroleum Companies. This Company's income in January at the same rate as the other four Osage Petroleum Companies, which will begin to be demonstrated by a steady stream of dividends in that it has an earning capacity, with direct dividends, equal if not in excess of the four Osage Petroleum Companies first operating in the favorable oil dividends. Any customer desiring to secure this stock will have to send in their subscriptions prior to the date of its withdrawal.

The Interstate Osage Petroleum Co. now has in its profit fund approximately $35,000, against an investment in the property and development of same of less than $21,000, which we think is a remarkable record for the Osage properties for 1905.

Thousands Have Kidney

Trouble and Never Suspect It.

How to Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass water in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys are out of order.

What to Do.
There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidney, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and sending pain in passing it, or had effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest test of wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Ringhamton, N. Y. Home of Swamp-Root, writing mention of this advertisement will make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Ringhamton, N. Y.

SERIOUS FALL.

L. H. Wolking Injures Healed Fracture at Frankel's Corner.

Saturday afternoon Mr. L. H. Wolking, who had been here visiting his brother-in-law, Dr. R. L. Bradley, slipped and fell at Frankel's corner. A carriage was called and Mr. Wolking was carried to the home of Dr. Bradley. Dr. W. E. Reynolds was summoned.

Mr. Wolking came here from Louisville, and had just been discharged from the hospital there having fallen and fractured one of the bones of his right leg above the knee. He was able to walk without a crutch but at times suffered considerably, especially at night.

Dr. Reynolds said that the fall Saturday did not cause a new fracture and that Mr. Wolking will soon recover entirely by keeping entirely off his feet.

INTO A CREATOR.

New Order Of Humanity is a Possibility.

New York, Jan. 31.—Man, through his advanced science, may develop into a creator himself, is the opinion of Prof. Wilhelm Ostwald, of the University of Leipzig, in a lecture at Columbia University last night on the results of the attempt to create life through chemical processes.

Prof. Ostwald has given careful attention to the experiments of Prof. Jacques Loeb, of the University of California, and announces with confidence belief that by slow development science can create a type of life as high as that of our domestic animals. The steps will be slow; one form of life will be produced one after another, and, eventually, the professor expects something almost akin to man in its physical being may be produced.

"There is practically no limit to what man can do in this direction," he said. "Of course, at first he will be able to produce only a piece of protoplasm, something like water hydra or the resemblance of the sea urchin that Prof. Loeb has developed but it will be instinct with real life and will be a step in the new evolution. This evolution can only result in the creation of something the equal of higher animals, but what it will be, who shall say?"

"It seems to me that the scientist who is able to determine the physical form of his creation after the development has started, will have created a new order of life, for this being will multiply indefinitely, just the same as all our modern animals.

"I cannot say whether this creation of man will be crustacean, amphibian, mammalian or whether biped, quadruped, fish fowl or reptile. I can only say that after careful study of what has been accomplished I am overwhelmed at the inevitable probabilities. Who knows but a new order of humanity may be created.

Local Leaflets.

Several hundred people walked out on the L. & N. Sunday afternoon to see what progress had been made by the contractor for grading additional trackage for switching purposes.

There was no preaching at the Ninth Street Presbyterian church Sunday night, owing the illness of the pastor, Dr. Forgiat.

Monday was county court day but the usual large crowd from the country was not here, presumably an account of the weather.

Monday was pension day, that is the day for drawing pension money, and Deputy Clerk Wicks had about all he could do.

Sunday night's snow being followed by a considerable drop in the temperature caused an increase in the number of applicants for charity coal.

Farmers, don't forget the all-day meeting of members of the Dark Tobacco Association to be held next Monday in this city.

ROAD SUPERVISOR

New County Official Elected A Few Days Ago.

We present herewith a good picture of Will J. Murphy, the popular young Democrat who was a few days ago elected Road Supervisor for Christian County for a term of two years. Mr. Murphy is a native of McMin county, Tennessee, where he was born near Knoxville in 1870. His father, John N. Murphy, when a mere boy was a Confederate soldier who saw service in Tennessee, Virginia and North Carolina. He was captured at Strawberry Plains and held a prisoner until the end of hostilities. After living in his native county until 1874, Mr. Murphy moved with his family to Christian county and settled at Macedonia, where the only son was a child of four years. There he engaged in mercantile pursuits and acquired considerable property. Always an ardent Democrat, the elder Murphy reared his son to love the same principle and as a youth he became an active party worker in a strongly Republican precinct. The boy assisted his father on the farm and in the store until he was a grown man and then went to the Normal School at Princeton, Ky., taught by J. W. Marion, where he supplemented his education he had gained in the district schools with a course that qualified him to teach and he taught school for a while after he completed his education. Then he was taken into his father's business as a partner. In 1896 he was secretary of the Bryan Club in his precinct and increased the Democratic vote from 60 to 100, the largest Democratic vote ever polled in the precinct. Again in 1900 he did excellent service and in the county election of 1901.

In 1890 Mr. Murphy was married to Miss Fannie L. Fowler, a daughter of Mr. D. E. Fowler and a brother of Judge W. T. Fowler. They have two little girls. In 1905 Mr. Murphy was given the Democratic nomination for county Assessor, without his applying for it and in the campaign that followed he developed strength that surprised even his friends. He ran against an opponent conceded to be stronger than his party and yet Mr. Murphy came within 5 votes of election, almost overcoming a Republican majority of 1,000. In his own precinct he received nearly twenty-five per cent of the Republican vote, showing how popular he is where he is best known.

He was elected Road Supervisor as a compromise candidate, receiving all of the Democratic votes of the fiscal court. He qualified the same day and entered upon his duties.

Mr. Murphy expects to move to the Palmyra district soon, but for the present his office is with Duffy and Rives, where he can be found on Mondays by those having business with the Road Supervisor.

FOX BLUFF

To Be Made Pleasure Resort By Nashville People.

Fox Bluff, on the Cumberland river and the Illinois Central railroad, fifty miles South of this city, is to be made one of the most aristocratic and prettiest pleasure resorts in Tennessee. S. H. Ellison, of Nashville, who owns 200 acres of land along the railroad and river, is the promoter of the enterprise, and he has organized a big club of Nashville people who are building cottages and a club-house there. The members of the club are among the wealthiest and most prominent people in Nashville. The club is building an artificial lake covering seven acres of ground which will be stocked with fish by the Government Fish Commission. Fox Bluff is one of the most prominent on Cumberland river and can be seen for miles around. One of the prettiest views is the Government dam in the river, which creates a water fall about twenty feet high. Below this dam is said to be the best fishing spot in the river and fine fish can be caught there at all times of the year. A private spur track has been put in on the railroad for private and special cars and a wharf will be built on the river for the accommodation of the members who own naphtha and gasoline launches. The Illinois Central railroad officials are very much interested in the enterprise, it is said, and it is quite likely that a summer resort depot will be erected at an early date.

Resolutions.

James Moore Lodge, No. 230, F. & A. M., adopted the following resolutions:

Resolved, that the members of the lodge wear the badge of mourning thirty days; that these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the lodge; that a copy be sent to the bereaved family, and they be tendered the county papers.

Where Revolutions Take the Place of Elections

State Domingos and its Five Presidents in Five Years—Incompetent to Organize and Administer Economic Systems.

In an article in the North American Review, Senator Newman, of Nevada, writes thus of San Domingo: "Revolution has followed revolution. Republican in name, the government is really a military despotism, where one dictator succeeds another, each possibly more cruel and more conscienceless than his predecessor. Monies are borrowed and bonds issued at enormous discounts. The bonds are floated, the interest defaulted, and foreign governments, urging the claims of their citizens, are met with the prevailing misrule and anarchy as a reason for non-payment. Concessions improvidently granted are without effect, interfered with, and claims arise out of them."

Not long ago Uncle Sam, as is well known, decided to go down to the indebted and incompetent little country and try his hand there as revenue collector; hoping in this way in time to satisfy foreign creditors and keep them from declaring one of their "peaceful blockades" with not impossible later entire ownership by some one of the interested. When a country fails to meet her obligations to a foreign government citizens of a foreign government, there is precedent for the seizure of the country.

PRESIDENT CARLOS E. MORALES.

of the debtor. Years ago, France, England and Spain made seizure of Mexico for this cause; and we have the recent instance of Germany, Italy, and England making a "peaceful blockade" of a port in Venezuela. Uncle Sam thought to avoid this state of affairs, thought to keep the revered Monroe Doctrine inviolate as well as help a weaker brother learn something of the important lesson of paying his debts. Up north we have had no small discussion about the modus vivendi and the treaty ratification, but affairs down in San Domingo have seemed to be going pretty smoothly until just recently. Now San Domingo is up to her old tricks—another "revolution."

Until the ratification of a treaty should definitely settle the matter of this country looking after the revenue, our men have been acting under an agreement between the contending factions in San Domingo. This action has been criticised, called doing by indirection what the senate had not yet countenanced; but with the pros and cons of this we have nothing to do. The Dominicans appear not to have been able to stand by and see gold piling up which they were impelled to handle; they were impelled to protest. A cablegram gives as cause of the clash, dissatisfaction with the agreement entered in by Morales with the United States government looking toward financial control by the Americans. But any old cause does down in San Domingo.

Morales' hold on the presidency for some time past has been weakening. He has counted on being backed by the Americans, because it was he that negotiated the original treaty with the United States. For awhile it looked as though, one going on in the interests of peace, championed Carlos E. Morales, that it appeared of letting him finish his term of office. Morales, however, must have realized the term was not to be completed with any ease for behold his flight, his efforts to enroll new followers.

In San Domingo, as in this country, the presidential term is four years; but, as a writer in the Review of Reviews, where revolutions take the place of elections, and these occur with some little frequency, the writer, who for years has made a study of the Dominican genus of revolutions, does not attribute their frequency to climate or impetuosity of the people; but to political ambition, developed there into a mania. A president arrives at the desired goal

NERVOUSNESS, ILL-HEALTH

A Heavy Load to Carry

"ALL IS WELL THAT ENDS WELL."

Along with dyspepsia comes nervousness and general ill-health. Why? Because a disordered stomach does not permit the food to be properly digested, and its products assimilated by the system. On the other hand the blood is charged with poisons which come from this disordered digestion, and it turns the nerves into a hotbed of nervousness, sleeplessness and general breakdown. It is not hard work that does it, but poor stomach work. With poor, thin blood the body is not protected against the attack of germs of grip, bronchitis and consumption. Fortify the body at once with Dr. Pierce's Medical Discovery—a rare combination of native medicinal roots without a particle of alcohol or dangerous drugs. No man is stronger than his stomach. Let the greatest ailment have dropped, and his muscles would soon fall. Physical strength is derived from food. If a man has insufficient food, he loses strength. If he has no food he dies. Food is converted into nutrition through the stomach and bowels. It depends on the strength of the stomach, the extent food taken is digested and assimilated. People can die of starvation who have abundant food to eat, when the stomach and its associate organs of digestion and nutrition do not perform their duty. Thus the stomach is really the vital organ of the body. If the stomach is weak, the body will be weak, also, because it is upon the stomach the body relies for its strength. And as the body considered as a whole is made up of its several organs and organs, so the weakness of the body as a consequence of a weak stomach will be distributed among the organs which compose the body. If the body is weak because it is not fed, it will be weak in all its parts. So the body will be weak in all its parts, in its heart, liver, lungs, etc., because the weakness is equally distributed among the organs. It is not the quantity of food, but the quality of the reduction of their daily ration of nutrition.

By way of example take the case of the Assistant Treasurer of the Catholic Church, who writes:

"For years after my health began to fail, my head grew clear, eyes pained me, and my stomach was sore all the time, while everything I would eat would seem to be heavy. I took on my stomach. The doctor claimed that it was gastritis trouble due to dyspepsia, and prescribed for me, although I took their remedies regularly, yet I felt no better. My wife advised me to try Dr. Pierce's Medical Discovery—and stop taking the doctor's medicine. She bought one bottle and we soon found that I began to improve, so I kept on the treatment. I took on flesh, my stomach became normal, the digestive organs worked properly, and I began to enjoy life like a different person. I can never come to be grateful for what my wife has done for me and I certainly give it highest praise."

To refute the many false and malicious attacks, bogus formulae and other untruthful statements published by copy-pasting and distorted medicine men concerning Doctor Pierce's World-famed Medical Discovery, the Doctor has decided to publish all the ingredients entering into his "Golden Medical Discovery." Hereafter every bottle of this medicine (leaving the great Laboratory at Buffalo, N. Y.) will bear upon it a full list of all the ingredients entering into the composition, printed in plain English.

These ORIGINAL Little Dr. Pierce's Pills, first put up by old Dr. J. C. Pierce, have been since made by the same process, and are as pure, reliable, concentrated and refined medicinal principles, extracted from native American roots and plants. They speedily relieve and cure all ailments of the stomach, bowels, liver and bowels and their attendant distressing troubles. They are a healthy, three or four a cathartic.

Amundsen's Triumph in the Arctic Seas

Discoverer of Northwest Passage Plans to Continue His Sail Round Arctic Circle.

That one planet and another resplendent has been strikingly illustrated in the successful voyage which Capt. Roald Amundsen and his eight men have made through the Northwest passage, for he has only followed the route known to exist by reason of the discovery of Sir John Franklin, in 1847. But notwithstanding the fact that Amundsen has not made an original discovery, his feat in taking the first vessel through the channel from Baffin bay to Behring straits is none the less remarkable, for it took boldness to conceive and courage to attempt, and good luck born of persistent watchful effort to accomplish what for the past 300 years the most strenuous efforts of arctic explorers have failed to do.

In addition to his bringing his stanch little ship, the Gjoa—a sloop of 47 tons, 70 feet long, 20 foot beam and propelled by a small petroleum engine—safely through, he has made important observations which it is believed will, when they are all figured out and the proper deductions made, settle the location of the magnetic pole. A magnetic pole is a point where the freely suspended needle shows a dip of 90 degrees. An observation station was established by Capt. Amundsen at King William's land, latitude, 68 degrees the region where Amundsen made his magnetic survey. This region is roughly inclosed with a circle of X's in this area Amundsen spent nearly two years. His last magnetic work was on King William's island, not far from where Lieut. Gore solved the question of the Northwest passage; and it was here that the Gjoa started on the journey.

Born at Christiania 35 years ago, a Norwegian of the Norwegians, Capt. Roald Amundsen, when little more than a boy began his maritime career. Amundsen attended the public schools of Christiania, and the only diploma that he owns is from one of the high schools of the ancient capital of Norway. He first came prominently before the public as a member of the antarctic expedition of the Belgica, which vessel in 1879-80 cruised in the south polar seas under M. Gerlach. Returning from this expedition, Amundsen conceived the idea of an arctic exploration, the object of which would be the discovery of the Northwest passage and the location of the magnetic pole.

Amundsen told his friends Nansen, the explorer, and Prof. Schmitt and Neumayer, of Germany, his hopes, and laid before them in detail the plans and 30 minutes north and 90 degrees west. Capt. Amundsen declares his belief, based on the two years' observation by him, that the north magnetic pole is within 90 minutes of that point. The observations have been taken day and night for a period of three years, and, in the opinion of the explorer, the actual position of the magnetic pole will be determined as soon as his observations can be figured out.

In 1861 Capt. James Ross, from observations made located the magnetic pole on Boothia Felix, America's northernmost peninsula, and it is evident that there has been little change from the point marked by him. Capt. Amundsen found that in passing from the northern point of Peel sound to the western end of Simpson's strait the ship's compass was useless.

When Amundsen sailed from Christiania June 17, 1903, he knew definitely the course he wanted to take, because of the records made by the Franklin expedition, and the story of that expedition is really the introduction to the story of what Amundsen has accomplished.

On May 24, 1847, Graham Gore, first lieutenant of the Erebus, with another officer and six men left their ships and started southward. They reached Point Victory, on King William Land, and went onward till they came to Cape Herschel. A little beyond they saw the coast of North America, the charts of which were in their hands. The Franklin expedition had been sent from England for no other purpose than to find the Northwest passage.

The little party realized that the long-sought-for passage had been discovered, and could actually be accomplished, if they might only force their ships through the short ice barriers that intervened between them and the open water. They deposited a record of their discovery and then hurried back to their ships to impart the joyful tidings to their comrades. They found the expedition plunged in the deepest grief, for, during their absence, Sir John Franklin had passed away. He was shared the misery of sharing with his men the starvation that befell them all when they finally abandoned their ships and sought the mainland.

And it is this summer channel along the coast that Amundsen has followed westward; and the Franklin party not only pointed out the short cut to the channel, but the fate of its ships gave a warning to Amundsen which he fully improved.

The map shows the track of the Gjoa as she entered Lancaster sound from Baffin bay and threaded the channel leading westward till she reached which, if followed, he felt convinced would solve two of the three greatest arctic problems. These friends, thoroughly believing in Amundsen, realized at once the merit of his arguments, and unhesitatingly indorse his scheme, and thus was inaugurated the expedition that was destined to live forever as among the most brilliant expeditions in history.

But Capt. Amundsen is not satisfied, it seems, for he is planning next summer to continue his voyage around the arctic circle. To do this he must go through the Northeast passage, a feat second only to the one which he has already accomplished. When he reaches Norway he will have done something no other arctic explorer has ever attempted, the circumnavigation of the globe within the arctic regions.

Capt. Amundsen was first mate of an antarctic expedition which seven years ago made important discoveries in the southern polar regions, and Dr. Frederick Cook, of Brooklyn, who was a member of the same expedition, speaks in the highest terms of the Norwegian. "When one is shipmate with a man in the arctic region for two long years," he said, "he begins to understand him. I knew Amundsen well. As first mate of our expedition he proved himself not only a congenial companion, but a man of wonderful resources. Amundsen had one hobby. That was to find the magnetic pole. I do not say so much stress on the passage of the arctic circle as I do the reported discovery of the magnetic pole. Amundsen passed in order to find it."

COUNCIL'S MEETING.

Another Meeting Will Be Held Two Weeks Hence.

The city council held a busy session Friday night, with all of the members present and the mayor presiding. The usual reports were received and filed and the current accounts for the month passed upon and ordered paid.

Councilman Davis, chairman of the special committee appointed to examine the annual reports of the treasurer and other officers, reported that the work had been performed.

Treasurer A. W. Wood's accounts were found correct to a cent and on motion he was given his quitus for 1925.

The council re-elected Councilman L. H. Davis as workhouse commissioner with power to appoint a city jailer. G. E. Drake, the present jailer, will be appointed at a salary of $30 a month and 20 cents a meal for feeding prisoners.

The cemetery report for January showed a net profit for the month of nearly $200.

Mayor Meacham officially notified the council of the accidental wounding of Officer Chas. E. Hord on Jan. 3 and of his disability since that time. On motion Officer Hord was allowed full pay for January and half pay until Feb. 15th, when it is hoped he will be able to resume his duties.

The ordinance providing for a stone curbing and cinder walk on East Seventh street, south side, from Dr. W. L. Nourse's to the city limits, came up for second reading and after discussion and a protest from Mr. Chas. Knight, whose property was affected, the ordinance was referred to the street committee.

Street Railway Franchise.

Clerk H. P. McMath made a formal report of the sale of a street railway franchise Jan. 27 to H. M. Dalton, who appeared and proffered a bond, to which was attached his certified check for $3,000 on the Kentucky Bank and Trust Co., of Madisonville. The sale of the franchise was therefore ratified, the bond accepted, and official notice action taken ordered published.

Under the terms of the franchise, actual construction must be begun in good faith by May 3, and five miles of road be in operation by Feb. 3, 1927. The franchise is the same one recently sold to Mr. John H. Bell, Jr., in its details, except that it has a $3,000 bond and cash forfeit. The purchase price was $1 and $120 added for the cost of publication.

E. E. Watts, Princeton, Ind., is in the city for the purpose of surveying the streets for the railway.

On motion of Councilman Ware it was ordered that an additional meeting be held hereafter on the third Friday night in each month, which will obviate the frequent necessity for special meetings. Last year, Mr. Ware stated, there were 26 meetings held, and the semi-monthly meetings will not require as many meetings during the year.

After the adjournment at about 11 o'clock Mr. H. M. Dalton entertained the councilmen and city officials with an oyster supper at the Innovation Cafe.

Big Tabernacle Benefit.

The programme for the Tabernacle benefit Friday night of this week is moving along nicely, and rehearsals are the order of the day.

The old "Eclipse Orchestra," beside giving two orchestra numbers, have promised some vocal numbers, and it is to be hoped they will favor us with "Swing Low Sweet Chariot" or "Keep in the Middle of the Road."

The Treble Clef Club will give two of their best numbers, and for high class music this club is the best that has ever been located here.

Mrs. Wm. H. Cummings, Jr. will give one of her delightful readings, and Miss Lillian Gary will give a violin solo, with Mrs. J. H. Anderson as accompanist. Miss Gary's solos are always well received, and we consider her one of our star performers.

Miss Eloise Wendemuth, of South Kentucky College, will give a reading, and all who have heard this young lady will read this announcement with great pleasure.

The "Little Quartette" will give among other numbers, "Sambo & Dina." This was a feature of the Humpty Dumpty show in Nashville last week. Their quartette work is too well known to need comment.

The programme will wind up with an old fiddlers contest, and let us say that this promises to be one of the most hilarious numbers of the evening.

Prices: General admission 50c, children under 12 years 25c, Union Tabernacle Association.

READ THIS!

Hopkinsville, Ky., June 7th, 1901. Dr. E. W. Hall, St. Louis, Mo.—Dear Sir: I suffered ten years with severe kidney and bladder troubles, and at times was unable to work.
